

Victoria Coleman

Dr Victoria Coleman leads the Nanometrology section at the National Metrology Institute of Australia, (NMIA). She is a member of the International Committee for Weights and Measures since 2022 and is President of the Consultative Committee for Length (CCL).

She is active in the Asia Pacific Metrology Programme (APMP) for over a decade, currently serving as APMPs Lead Technical Committee Chair. In this role, she has been working closely with the current and former Chair of APMPs Developing Economies Committee to better understand the technical needs of APMPs Developing Economies and increase engagement between APMPs 12 technical committees and the DEC.
